

Joseph Mallord William Turner

(23 April 1775 – 19 December 1851)

Turner

- He was an English painter, printmaker and watercolour artist
- He was born in London and had a Cockney accent
- He was very talented from a young age and at 14 joined the Royal Academy of Arts
- He became a Professor of Arts
- He suffered from depression in later life, partly due to the death of his father